MISSOURI DIRECTORY
of Mineral Producers and Processors

Compiled by James A. Martin

INTRODUCTION

This directory of the mineral industry of Missouri is the second issued by the Missouri Geological Survey and Water Resources. The first directory, compiled by W. C. Hayes, was issued in 1964 as a Miscellaneous Publication and is now out of print. Prior to the 1964 Directory, producer listings were contained in the Biennial Reports of the State Geologist from 1917 (Report to the 49th General Assembly) through 1931 (Report to the 56th General Assembly). The present directory and succeeding editions will be published in the Information Circular (IC) series.

Individual companies are listed alphabetically by commodity, along with mailing address (including out-of-state home offices), name of owner(s) and/or principal officers and county where the operation is located. A county index of producers covering 108 of Missouri's 114 counties and an alphabetical index are also included; non-commercial producers—State and Federal agencies and city, county, and township road departments—are not. Processing plants that beneficiate or process mineral raw materials are listed by product. Those companies with mining operations in the state are marked by an asterisk (*); the complete company listing is in the mineral commodity portion of this directory.

The importance of the mineral industry to the economy of Missouri is being emphasized more than ever before with the value of mineral output reaching an all time high of $277 million in 1968. New discoveries and plant construction have nearly doubled production in the past decade. Annual value of Missouri's mineral production from 1900 through 1968 is shown in Table 1; production and value (by mineral commodity) are listed for 1967 and 1968 (preliminary) in Table 2.

Major additions to the mineral industry since publication of the 1964 Directory include construction of three new cement plants — Dundee Cement Co., River Cement Co., and Universal Atlas; the development of four lead mines and mills in the Viburnum Trend by Cominco American Inc. and Dresser Industries Inc., Missouri Lead Operating Co., Ozark Lead Co., and St. Joseph Lead Co.; development of the Pilot Knob Pellet Co. iron mine, mill, and pellet plant; construction of two new lead smelters — Missouri Lead Operating Co. and American Smelting and Refining Co.; complete modernization of the St. Joseph Lead Co.'s Herculeaneum smelter; and construction of the H. K. Porter Co., Inc. refractories plant.

Under development are a major coal field in Barton County by Pittsburg & Midway Coal Mining Co.; a lead mine and mill in Reynolds County by the St. Joseph Lead Co., and two bentonitic clay processing plants — A. P. Green Refractories Co. in Scott County and Missouri Clay Products Co. in Stoddard County. Noranda Mines Ltd. of Toronto, Canada has begun construction of a 70,000 tpy aluminum smelter at New Madrid; completion date is scheduled for 1970-71. The plant will be operated by Noranda Aluminum Inc.

In the interim three operations were phased out of production — The Hanna Mining Co. Iron Mountain mine, Hydraulic Press Brick Co.'s St. Louis plant, and General Refractories Co.'s St. Louis plant. In addition, a number of smaller barite, coal, iron ore, and refractory clay mining companies have ceased operations; and a number of acquisitions and mergers have taken place.

Most of the directory information was obtained through a canvass of the mineral producers. Listings of the State Mine Inspector, the Missouri State Highway Department, the Missouri Limestone Producers Associations, and the U. S. Bureau of Mines were utilized. E. S. Albrecht of the Greater St. Louis Sand and Gravel Association and D. L. Robinson of the Missouri State Highway Department were particularly helpful. We are grateful for the assistance given us by mineral producers, agencies, and individuals.
